Best Indian Restaurant - Central London

Mango Indian is a unique Indian restaurant located close to the famous London Borough Market and the Shard in the heart of London. We invited Owner Sorowar Khan to tell us more about this exquisite eatery and the range of dishes it provides.

Situated in the heart of London, Mango Indian offers a perfect combination of authentic Indian cuisine and a relaxed, friendly atmosphere. Sorowar is keen to highlight the restaurant's focus on providing the perfect Indian dining experience to its guests.

"At Mango Indian we have stripped its menu back to basics rather than follow suit with a traditional Brit-Indian menu. We wanted to give our diners an authentic and true Indian dining experience.

"As such, our chefs went back to basic Indian cooking principles and took all the classic ingredients and traditional methods of cooking which are at the very heart of traditional Indian cooking. Taking these ingredients and methods, they fused them with a modern culinary twist. The result is beautiful, traditional and authentic Indian dishes packed with fresh flavours and aromas that leap off the palate to create an explosion of taste on your palate. The rich masalas and ingredients such as fenugreek and jeera pack such a punch that even the most jaded of palates are re-ignited. But Mango Indian wanted to push boundaries further. With all the bold flavours being used we needed to introduce subtlety to compliment these flavours and tastes of the new menu. Simple additions such as the inclusion of the delicate curry leaf and tempered mustard seeds lifted our dishes to new heights."

Overall, India is full of culture and tradition when it comes to cooking, and Sorowar believes that Mango Indian's focus on providing the most authentic, sumptuous menu and excellent hospitality is what sets the establishment apart and marks it out as the best possible option for anyone seeking a real Indian dining experience.

"Ultimately, our menu here at Mango Indian includes dishes that demonstrate and understand these traditions. Mango Indian is a modern, comfortable, stylish and intimate Indian restaurant where you can sit back, relax and enjoy the fantastic menu of eastern tradition fused with modern culinary expertise."

"Sorowar is keen to highlight the restaurant's focus on providing the perfect Indian dining experience to its guests."
